DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 8, 11-14, 16, and 18-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 5,319,179 (Joecks). Joecks teaches rear wall, a front wall opposite said rear wall, a pair of opposed end walls, and a dividing wall defining a welding chamber therein, said welding chamber sized to receive a component being welded therein (figure 1, sections of item 1); a gas delivery system for supplying a protective gas into the SWET box and said enclosure (figure 1, item 5); and a lid coupled to the SWET box and extending over the heating chamber and said enclosure, encasing the heating chamber and said enclosure (figure 1, item 25); wherein said gas delivery system includes a diffuser positioned adjacent a floor of said welding chamber, said diffuser coupled to a protective gas source through said floor of said welding chamber (figure 1, item 3); wherein said diffuser comprises an array of perforated tubes (figure 1, network of conduits); a blade support positioned above said diffuser, said support including a perforated base in flow communication with said diffuser (figure 1, item 6); wherein said blade support is separated from said diffuser by a layer of mesh material (figure 1, item 3);

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 5,319,179 (Joecks) as applied to claim 8 above and further in view of US 5,981,897 (Offer). Offer teaches a plurality of a plurality of diffuser cups from the top of the weld (figure 4, item 28). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the gas delivery system of Joecks to utilize the particular diffuser arrangement of offer having the gas provided at the top of the container in order to ensure a strong weld joint (see Offer col. 1, ll. 20-50).

Claim 20 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 5,319,179 (Joecks) as applied to claim 16 above and further in view of US 5,981,897 (Offer). Offer teaches a plurality of a plurality of diffuser cups from the top of the weld (figure 4, item 28). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the gas delivery system of Joecks to utilize the particular diffuser arrangement of offer having the gas provided at the top of the container in order to ensure a strong weld joint (see Offer col. 1, ll. 20-50).

Response to Arguments

Applicant argues Joecks describes a container including a heat chamber that includes an enclosure defined therein that is not sized to receive a component being welded therein. The examiner disagrees. The examiner understands that, as with any other claim limitation, functional language is acceptable so long as it sets definite boundaries on the patent protection sought. In re Barr, 170 USPQ 33 (CCPA 1971). A recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). In the instant case, it is the examiner's position that by welding the workpiece in the chamber, Joecks teaches the chamber is adequately sized to receive the component.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
